Aim of the Course

The course is designed to provide students with a capability of multi-dimensional evaluation and analysis of the relations between Turkey and the EU. To be able to evaluate and understand current relations, it is necessary to know historical evolution of the relations. Therefore, providing a historical background and examining the legal basis of the official relations under the Ankara Association Agreement and the Customs Union constitute important parts of the course content. Helsinki Summit and Turkey’s candidacy status, the relations in the post-Helsinki era are among the several issues that will be explored in this course. The main purpose of the course is to analyze the interaction between the different aspects (political, economic and legal) of the relations in order to have a clear and analytical understanding and evaluation of Turkey-EU relations. The course also offers discussions about the current issues in Turkey-EU relations, immediate and comprehensively critical issues of Turkey’s accession negotiation process for further analytical thinking of the issue.

Course Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, the student should:

1. Have capability of multi-dimensional evaluation and analysis of the relations between Turkey and the EU.
2. Have basic understanding of the historical evolution and legal basis of Turkey-EU relations.
3. Have analytical perspective regarding the political, economic and legal aspects of Turkey-EU relations.
4. Comprehend critical issues of Turkey’s candidacy and commencement of accession negotiations.
5. Have an idea about the changing internal dynamics in the EU and Turkey regarding Turkey’s accession negotiation process.
6. Have an overall idea about the current debates in Turkey-EU relations and have the capability to discuss them.

Method

The method of the course will be mainly argumentative and comparative not only descriptive in order to provide the students with the ability of questioning and comparative analysis. Therefore, the lectures will involve comparisons of Turkey with Greece in terms of the Association relationship with the EC, and with the other candidate countries in terms of Copenhagen Criteria. The course mainly will depend on the class discussions and debates on argumentative papers after lectures.
Textbook
The course will not follow a main textbook, but a compilation of chosen articles and chapters of selected textbooks. The basic recommended readings of the course is as follows. The weekly reading list will be provided by the instructor during the course.
